

Topeka Native Serves as Congressional Intern in Moran's Washington, D.C. Office

WASHINGTON, D.C. – Congressman Jerry Moran announced that Andrew Wiens of Topeka is serving as a congressional intern in his Washington, D.C. office this summer. Wiens is a 2006 graduate of Cornerstone Family School and a 2010 graduate of Tabor College with degrees in philosophy, history, religious studies, and business management. Wiens is the son of Emery and Donna Wiens of Topeka.

“Congressional internships offer Kansas students a great opportunity to learn about Congress and the legislative process,” Moran said. “Andrew is doing important work for Kansans and gaining valuable experience that will help him in the future.”

Wiens will return to Tabor College this fall to complete his undergraduate coursework. Upon finishing his studies, he will either pursue a post-graduate program or enter the Kansas workforce.

“My experience working for Congressman Moran in Washington, D.C. has been tremendous,” Wiens said. “I have not only been exposed to national politics and the legislative process, but I have also witnessed firsthand the complex issues facing our country’s leaders today. I truly appreciate this special opportunity and look forward to applying what I have learned in the future.”

Wiens assists Moran with legislative and administrative duties on behalf of the people of Kansas.
